Comment.

Washington, Sept. 14.—All information available here today points to the fact that the Palma government is on its last legs. Apparently it controls nothing outside of Havana city, practically all the rest of the island, being in insurrection. The situation, in the opinion of officials here, fully warrants the action of the President in calling the cabinet officers together at Oyster Bay today to confer as to the proper course to pursue. Commander Colwell's dispatch regarding his landing of sailors at Havana, which has been forwarded to Oyster Bay, follows:

"I have landed force, after consultation with those best advised as to the situation and especially on request of President Palma himself, who informed Mr. Sleeper and myself that he gravely doubted the ability of the Cuban government to protect American property and persons. The force is encamped in the Plaza de Armas, which is the best strategical point, and commands two of the principal business streets of Havana. I am in readiness and in the best position to protect American business and interests. I have offered an asylum on board the Denver for all Americans."

After the receipt of this dispatch last night Colwell was directed to withdraw a majority of his force. This was done immediately, according to a dispatch received this morning from Mr. Sleeper. In consultation with the President at Oyster Bay are the heads of all the principal departments, required to take action in case the administration decides it is time to intervene to maintain government in Cuba capable of protecting life and property. It now looks as though the moment for decision had arrived. That decision, whatever it may be, will be made by President Roosevelt.

WILL PALMA RESIGN?

Havana, Sept. 14.—The greatest confusion reigns in government circles here this afternoon. A report that Palma will tender his resignation to the Cuban congress at 3 o'clock when it will have convened in session has reached the streets. Business is at a standstill. It is impossible to see Palma but it is reported he is in fear of assassination if he appears on the streets. Senor Hevia assistant secretary of state, resigned this morning.

PREPARATION FOR FLIGHT.

(Bulletin.)

Havana, Sept. 14.—Preparation have been made for the flight of President Palma on board the United States cruiser Denver in the event that the rebels attack the city. The warship is lying within a stone's throw of the palace. A steam launch is in constant waiting and the way from the palace to the harbor is kept constantly cleared. Commander Colwell has offered an asylum to President Palma. The vessel's quick firing guns are cleared for action. Intervention by the United States is farthest from the wishes of the Cuban revolutionists. They hold the present trouble strictly an internal one for the Cubans to settle among themselves. The next thing the revolutionists least desire is fighting. The present uprising is designated principally as a demonstration to gain their point. Failing, they will fight. The appeal by General Guzman is to allow Cuba to settle her own troubles which amount to a restoration of the shackles of Spanish rule thinly veiled by the pretense of a republic. He has declared that the constitution has been thrown away and the royal laws of the ancient regime revived.

MARINES AT HAVANA.

Havana, Sept. 14.—With the exception of a small guard left to protect the American legation all the sailors and marines landed from the cruiser Denver last night have returned to ship-board. Much feeling has been aroused by the landing. The desire not to unduly alarm and excite the people is understood to have been the reason for positive instructions from the United States government at Washington demanding their return to the ship. The people are excited by the report that two United States transports bearing 2,000 marines are on the way to Cuba and will arrive soon. The cruiser Des Moines is also reported on the way from Key West, Fla., ready to land marines if necessary. At Cienfuegos the marines who landed from the gunboat Marietta, which arrived late yesterday, are still holding their position.

DENIAL IS MADE.

Havana, Sept. 14.—Denial of the report of the intention of Palma to resign was made this afternoon by secretary of state and Justice O'Farrell. The denial is believed to have been made for political purposes and is not generally accredited.

EXCITEMENT

Caused by Landing of Marines at Havana—Bacon Goes to See the President.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Not since the Spanish war has there been so much excitement in official circles in the national capital as there was today, following the report that United States bluecoats had been landed in Havana. The state, war and navy building was immediately besieged by correspondents. Assistant Secretary Bacon of the state department, received his first information that Commander Colwell, of the Denver, had sent his sailors ashore, from the press dispatches. Mr. Bacon hurried to the White House and immediately got in communication with President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

The conversation had two results. First, an order to Commander Colwell to withdraw all sailors back to the ship except for a guard sufficient to protect the American legation; second, a summons to Mr. Bacon to proceed at once to Oyster Bay for consultation with the president and the secretary of the navy, who had left on an earlier train.

for spending money appropriated for other purpose to conducting the war and arrange for many special taxes to support the arm. The insurgents have tied up all the railroads, there being scarcely a line not put out of operation. Telegraphic communications to all parts of the island are destroyed. Many plantations are destroyed, in a few instances being the property of Americans. When an agent of General Castillo, insurgent, and Alfredo Zayas, the insurgent's presidential candidate, met Commander Colwell of the Denver yesterday, they made an offer for surrender with their entire forces, if the United States would guarantee a fair trial. Colwell referred the matter to Palma, with a suggestion that he inform Washington.

CABINET MEMBERS

Are in Oyster Bay Today Confering With the President Over the Crisis in Cuba.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 14.—President Roosevelt is holding an impromptu cabinet meeting over the Cuban situation at Sagamore Hill today. Secretaries Taft, Bonaparte and Bacon are giving him what information they possess and the telegraph wires between Oyster Bay and Washington, which are in touch with Havana, are kept hot. Secretary Taft broke his vacation in Canada off short to answer the president's summons. The president sent for Taft and Bonaparte to learn from them the state of preparedness of the army and navy should an emergency arise. Before going to Sagamore Hill Mr. Bacon said the landing of marines upon Cuban soil from the Denver had been made for the sole purpose of protecting American interests.

"Was the order issued by the state department?" he was asked.

"I cannot say anything about it," replied the assistant secretary of state.

BONAPARTE

Says Situation is Serious and That American Interests in Cuba are Jeopardized.

New York, Sept. 14.—The situation in Cuba is very serious and American interests are jeopardized. This government is determined to protect every American and the property there, even if it is necessary to send the whole navy. Cuba at present offers about as poor a place for the investment of American money as could be found. This is the gist of the opinion expressed today by Secretary Bonaparte while departing for Oyster Bay on the subject of the United States' intervention. Bonaparte would not talk.

NEWS IN LONDON

Confirms Opinion There That American Intervention in Cuba Cannot Long be Delayed.

London, Sept. 14.—The news of the landing of American marines at Havana confirms the opinion held here that American intervention in Cuba cannot long be delayed. The Standard, editorially, blames the United States for the present disorders. It says that President McKinley's intervention was carried out in the name of peace and civilization, but the result is renewed tumult, barbarism and savagery. Either the Americans must tolerate anarchy in Cuba or exercise an effective protectorate. President Roosevelt would doubtless act promptly and vigorously if he did not have to think of the election campaign, says the paper.

The Morning Post says that Cuba is not strong enough to work out her own salvation.

OHIO MAN HURT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Edw. C. Brant of Chillicothe, O., while attending the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen here, was struck by a street car yesterday and internally injured.

BOY FATALLY STUNG.

Marion, O., Sept. 14.—The five-year-old son of W. W. Woodruff pushed over a bee hive while playing at home and the swarm of bees attacked him. His body was covered with bee stings, and physicians say he will die.

HER MIND WAS GONE.

St. Wayne, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Margaret Brichler of Cincinnati was found wandering insane near St. Wayne last night.

PIGEON HATCHES CHICKEN.

Marion Sept. 14.—City Clerk W. Fies is a pigeon fancier. Yesterday one of his fancy birds came off her nest with one pigeon and a chicken. It is supposed that a hen laid an egg in the pigeon's nest. The pigeon is very proud of her chicken but may have some trouble when the chicken is old enough to fly.

MAN WHO PUT CANAL ZONE PAY SCHEME IN EFFECT.

E. J. WILLIAMS

Panama, Sept. 13.—There has been much said and written about the pay department of the Isthmian Canal Commission, but now the system is almost perfect. In the early days of the work, when navy methods prevailed, the delay with which pay periods were met was one of the greatest causes of dissatisfaction. Sometimes a whole month would go by without a pay period, and actual suffering among the canal employees frequently resulted.

It has been a difficult matter to surround the payment of nearly thirty thousand men, taking the vast sum of $1,000,000 monthly, with the safeguards demanded by the United States government and to give to the labor that great necessity—payment of wages. It has also been difficult to adjust the methods of corporations with the precedent regulated system of paying required by the bureaus at Washington, but it has been done. The employees of the Isthmian Canal Commission are today paid with more regularity and at an earlier time of the month than United States employees in any part of the world, and what is more creditable the laborer is paid earlier after earning than the workmen of any big railroad system in the United States.

In the selection of E. J. Williams as disbursing officer Chairman Shonts had the pick of a host of men, and the result shows that he made no mistake. In addition to handling the vast sums of money used in paying the men Mr. Williams is local auditor and treasurer of the canal zone funds.

All of the handling of the money is done by three paymasters and five pay clerks. There is also a cashier who, under the disbursing officer, has control of the paying. The day laborers are paid every fifteen days.

MOTHER

Of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick Dies of Grief Caused by Celebrated Daughter's Career.

Woodstock, Ontario, Sept. 14.—The worries of many years, due to the career of her daughter, Cassie Chadwick, are ascribed as the indirect cause of the death in this city last night of Mrs. Mary A. Bigley, the aged mother of the celebrated exponent of high finance now serving a term in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus. As she lay on her deathbed the aged woman called for her daughter, and passed away praying for forgiveness of the celebrated woman.

Even in the face of the overwhelming volume of evidence and the subsequent admissions of Mrs. Chadwick her mother refused to believe that her favorite daughter was guilty of the charges against her.

Cassie Bigley Chadwick was born on a small farm near the city of Columbus, Ohio, and as a young girl was involved in some of the financial dealings which landed her behind prison bars.

Mrs. Bigley bore heavily her seventy-five years and the early troubles, and continued upon her bed for days until the arrival of Mrs. Chadwick's death, which she had long foreseen and her subsequent conviction and imprisonment.

Mrs. Bigley's death, though long foreseen, was a surprise to her friends, who expected to see her in her declining years in the city of Columbus. She is survived by her mother, a brother and a sister.

Mrs. Chadwick was born in 1831, and was a native of Ohio. She was a member of the Methodist church, and was a devout Christian.

Mrs. Chadwick was a well-known figure in the city of Columbus, and was a member of the Ohio State Fair. She was a successful business woman, and was a member of the Ohio State Fair.

THE UNVEILING CEREMONIES

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF DEATH OF PRESIDENT M'KINLEY

Judge Day and Senator Daniel Deliver Addresses—President's Daughter Releases the Folds.

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—A bronze image of William McKinley was unveiled here as an event commemorating the fifth anniversary of his death.

The memorial is located on High street at the main entrance to the state house grounds. It is in the form of an arc of a circle. In the center is the pedestal surmounted by the figure of McKinley, of heroic size, 9 feet 4 inches high. At each end are bronze groups of allegorical figures in tended to typify fundamental ideas or sentiments that underlie good government.

On the right is the type of physical force and human energy in repose, beside which is seated the youth of the coming generation in the attitude of intent study, counseled by the practical wisdom of maturity, typifying prosperity through progress.

On the left a beautiful specimen of American womanhood typifies those noble attributes of heart and home for which this country stands. Her left hand encircling the maiden at her side places above the emblems of war (sword and helmet) the palm of peace. Together with the maiden holding the wreath, this group is intended to symbolize the tribute of the people to the man.

The figure of McKinley represents him as he appeared at Buffalo, when delivering the famous address which was followed by the assassin's bullet and the bronze inscriptions on the stone work at the front of the monument are taken from that address.

The inscription on the left reads as follows: "Let us ever remember that our interest is in concord, not conflict; that our real concern rests in the virtues of peace, not those of war."

The inscription on the right: "Our earnest prayer is that God will grant to our country peace, prosperity, happiness and peace to all our neighbors, and that we may be to the people and the powers of earth."

The inscription on the front of the center pedestal: "William McKinley, Twenty-third president of the United States, born at Niles, O., Jan. 29, 1847; died at Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 14, 1901."

CLIFF DWELLING WALNUT CANYON

HERE is an Arabian tale in which a young prince, traveling over a seemingly endless desert, sights a beautiful city, whose minarets, spires and glistening domes form a splendid feature in the forbidding desert landscape. In size, beauty and elaboration of architecture it suggests a large and vigorous population, but as the traveler approaches and enters the gates he finds no one to challenge or even greet him. The more busy marts are deserted; streets that bear the trace of grinding wheels, steps that are worn down by countless feet, know them no more; the city is deserted. It is a place of absolute stillness.

Nothing so appealing to the human mind, nothing is so mysterious as a situation of this kind. I once found a vessel at sea, deserted. Large ships have been seen, with all sails set, drifting aimlessly without captain or crew. On the channel islands of Southern California I have found scores of towns and villages that showed that years ago they supported large and vigorous populations; yet today not a person lives who by legend or hearsay can tell the story of these people, that appeared to have buried their belongings—weapons, implements, vessels, mortars and musical instruments—by the sea in the black earth and to have been swept out of existence.

In the center of the island of Santa Catalina, on one of the ridges that sweeps down from Mount Orizaba, I once came upon a lofty rock jutting from the earth. On the lower side was a forest of cactus. Breaking through this I found it growing on a heap of Aztec ruins, which could only have been brought from the sea, nearly two miles distant, by human hands. On the rock was a black mark in red mineral paint, and scattered about were fragments of stone, pieces of mortar and vessels, while beneath the rock was the grave of a cave dweller, now partly filled with debris and for centuries, probably, the shelter of some of the wild cave. Delving in the door of this cave, which originally was large enough to afford protection and shelter to a family of several persons, I found a number of curious implements, and deep in the darkness a skull was found that might have passed as that of the man of Montezuma, so completely absent was the feature of the forehead, so pronounced the ridges over the eyes. Near the entrance, but on another side of the rock, was a smaller place which had been the kitchen, the rock still showing evidences of smoke.

These are interesting, but how much more so are the evidences of lost races in Arizona and New Mexico. In the channel islands, communities have disappeared, but in this vast region, in what to the Eastern eye is comparatively a desert, races have passed on, leaving only their homes and strange handwork to tell the story.

That a comparatively high civilization existed in this region ages ago is beyond question. We find stupendous ruins, artistic workmanship, houses built with a skill that suggests marked individuality, and engineering projects that stamp the people as a race far above the ordinary savage. Those unknown Americans were skilled engineers, and their ditches, their irrigating canals, which still stand filled in with sand and gravel are evidences of a remarkable race.

In wandering over New Mexico and Arizona the desperate traveler will find nearly everywhere the remains of this lost people. It will be a crumbling ruin, an ancient burial place, an adobe wall, a mass of broken pottery or a lofty pyramid still in situ, just as it stood when the unknown owner as driven away. The standing houses of these cliff dwellers have been looted for years by a vandal people, but now the government has stepped in and they are to be protected for all time and will constitute a government reserve.

In visiting these arid regions of the territories one is impressed with the belief that these ancient were a people who have been passed by discerning people and menacing tribes, and to escape their ravages they had made homes in the almost inaccessible cliffs as a refuge, imitating the swallow in its craglike nest. So perfect is the resemblance to the cliff house, to the cliff itself, so high up it is perched, that, without doubt, many have been passed by discerning people and have entirely escaped observation, which was the object of the builders. Driven from the lowlands after repeated attack, they went into the canyons, climbed their sides and adopted the weathered-out portions as their homes, or excavated others, as the case might be. These built up or inclosed with the disintegrated portions of the cliff and so made their homes often hundreds of feet above the bed of the canon, in positions that commanded miles of country. It is often said by foreigners that the United States has no ruins, no cities, but those who say this do not know the Rio Chama Canon, the Rio de Chelle and the various tributaries of the Rio San Juan, Walnut Canon, Montezumas well and castle, not to speak of the picturesque homes that top the mesas of the southwestern region through which Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado walked, the latter in pursuit of the fabled cities of Cibola.

A greater part of the Southwestern country was once the bottom of an ancient sea, peopled by plants 60 or 100 feet in length. Today this old ocean bottom is often a typical desert. Once well watered with streams, it is now an arid waste, like some parts of the Bad Lands, and the great runways or canyons washed out of the heart of old ocean beds by the rains of centuries, became the homes of human beings.

Just how early these cliff dwellers were discovered by white men is not known, but in 1840 they were found by Gen. J. H. Simpson, who announced that he had discovered the remains of a lost people. He was riding with his party down the dry beds of the Canon de Chelle when something unusual caught his eye far up the face of the cliff. The cavalcade halted, an adventurous climber began the ascent, and after a long and dangerous climb reached the spot, the home of a cliff dweller, one of the most famous—an eerie in the face of a cliff 800 feet high.

This is one of the most typical ruins, and as it is approached the remains of a dwelling are seen in the foreground—doubtless built upon the bank of what was once a rushing stream. This particular dwelling stands on the north side of the canon and has a frontage of 145 feet, with a depth of 45 feet. Back of it and 50 feet above it, occupying a vast crevice in the face of the cliff, is the famous Casa Blanca, or White House. The cliff forms the back and the outer wall is typical of many, being formed of thin blocks of sandstone set in soft mud or mortar, rising to a height of 18 feet. The rooms were small and dark, being about 12 feet square. As the crevice and house were 50 feet up the perpendicular side of the cliff's face and there was no path nor steps, it is assumed that ladders were used by the inhabitants, who could pull them up after them, thus being absolutely safe from marauders.

Interesting dwellings of these lost peoples are found on the Rio Grande, the Rio Gila, San Francisco, Rio Blanca, Rio Bolito and other streams or stream beds in New Mexico, and in the ancient province of Huasteca and Tanos, which included the Zandia and Pacer Mountains, are many others, those of Lazarte, Los Tanques, Gura and San Marcos being of particular interest, telling the story of a lost people. Some years ago an ancient ruin was discovered above the Tuhua town of Teguque buried three feet below the river bank. The find was made by accident, a tree had been completely covered, but a tree had washed away a vast deposit of earth, disclosing the remains of the ancient city, the houses of which were about 20 feet in height. The discoverers entered the rooms, found charcoal in the old fireplaces and secured many pieces of pottery.

One of the finest of these old dwellings is to be seen in the Canon de Chelle, known as Pueblo Bonito. The inclosure is about 200 feet in length, the wall being formed of plates of sandstone and two feet in thickness. The south front is three stories, and the inner side descends in a series of terraces.

The first story is seven feet high, the second nine and the upper six. In the outer row are 10 rooms, each about 20 feet long and 6 feet in width; some dark, and evidently storehouses. All in all, this extraordinary home has about 100 rooms. There were no stairs, ladders being used, as in the Mohl cities of today.

The Territories of New Mexico and Arizona are literal treasure-houses, these strange dwellings and homes in all stages of ruin being found over a large area, telling the interesting story of a lost people who, though they may have been the ancestors of the present natives of these territories, left no permanent record of their fate.

The first annual reunion of the Woolard family of this and adjoining counties was held at Idlewild park on Thursday and was a big success, there being 133 persons present, of whom 67 were Woolards. The day was spent in having a good social time, the discussion of a fine dinner, and listening to a fine address by Miss Jennie Lynn, a traveling evangelist. The following officers were elected: President, H. G. Woolard; vice president, James P. Woolard; secretary, John M. Woolard; committee of arrangements, Frank Woolard, Luther Woolard and Charles Woolard; committee on program, Mrs. Alice Orr, Mrs. Nellie Woolard, Mrs. Maggie Woolard and Mrs. Maggie Leach. The next reunion will be held at Idlewild Park on August 8, 1907.

In the town of Deserai a school for the purpose of training girls in chemistry connected with the sugar refining industry was opened some time ago, and has answered so well that similar training schools connected with soap factories, paper works and other industries requiring thorough laboratory training are now being organized. The young women in question are all girls of the better stations in life, and all who entered as original pupils of the first school have passed their recent examinations so satisfactorily as to have founds posts at once.

Educators and the public in general are showing much interest in the recent opening of the Oread school of Agriculture, Manufactures and Commerce, which occupies 4,000 acres of land some 18 miles from Baltimore, Md. Its founder and head is Henry D. Pecky. From each state two students will be admitted to work their way through, but the number of paying students is unlimited. All will be trained in actual cultivation and management of farms.

ENGINEER DOPPED CAP TO A GAME ROOSTER THAT ESCAPED WHEELS

Mr. James Sherrard, who resides on Twenty-second street in the Glenwood addition, in West Newark, has a number of game chickens of which he is particularly proud. The other day several of his hens and a handsome game rooster wandered to the tracks of the B. & O. and Pan Handle railroads, and were soon busy picking up the grains of wheat that had filtered out from a car. While thus engaged an east bound fast train, non-halt Pan Handle train, drawn by engine 5020, came booming down the tracks. The hens made a strenuous effort to find a place of safety, but the rooster stood up boldly in the middle of the track as it descended upon him. In an instant the engine had passed over him and it looked as though the rooster had been done for, but to the amazement of several persons who witnessed the affair the game cock shot out from underneath the train, apparently unharmed and set up a mighty crow. The engine took off his cap to him.

AMUSEMENTS

UNCLE JOSH SPRUCEBY.

During the engagement of the "Uncle Josh Spruceby" company for matinee and night on Saturday, September 15, a big street parade will be given daily at noon, and Press Agent Heckman promises this will be something new and unique. The company carries a big band, dressed in the "garb" of the rustic and the other in military costume. During the parade the band gives a splendid concert which attracts much attention and generally draws a crowd that reminds you of a Barnum & Bailey circus day.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Bilda Spang, who last season interpreted the role of Irish widow in W. H. Crane's presentation of "An American Lord," opened her starring tour this season in New York Wednesday night by a production of the English comedy, "Lady Muriel." The New York reviewers endorsed Miss Spang and also were very enthusiastic in commending her supporting company. The comedy concerns the experiences of a young lady, Jennifer Wilson, who is in New York to learn the character of a young man to whom her niece is engaged. She misconstrues several incidents in which the young man is involved, and launches confusion is said to follow.

Florence Rockwell, who will this season be the leading woman for Thomas W. Rose in his engagement in George M. Cohan's new comedy, "Popularity," is to be starred next season by Cohan and Harris. This firm is having a play especially written that will suit her talents. Miss Rockwell last season filed the distinguished position of leading woman for Richard Mansfield.

For the seventh year "The Prince of Pilsen" will again be placed on tour this season. The same company which has characterized the production in the past, will be adhered to this year. So universal a favorite has this production become that it is accepted everywhere as the standard by which to measure a musical comedy. In addition to securing such a prominence and enthusiastic reception in America, it is now in its third year in London.

The part of an Irish girl with a brogue has again failed to the lot of Henrietta Crossman, who interpreted that character of a role with such thorough sympathy in "Miss Nell" and "Sweet Kitty Bellairs." This new part is the leading role in "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy" the comedy in which Marie Tempest gained such favor in London last spring.

PAWNEE BILL

Wild West Show is in Town and a Splendid Parade Given at 10 This Morning.

Pawnee Bill's circus has captured the town today. At 10 o'clock the parade which is long and elaborate, passed over the business section of the town. It required twenty minutes to pass a given point, and was more than a mile in length.

Aside from the great number of fine horses on display and the relics of the wild west life, the stage coaches, prairie schooners, etc., the chief point of interest is the ethnological. Seldom has an organization gathered at one time so great a number of racial types. The Indians—number over 50. Then there is a band of Mexicans, in full glory of sombrero and other distinctive dress. Arabians and their fine horses, South African villagers, Russia Cossacks, South Sea Islanders, Japanese with their canoes, Japanese and Chinese cavalry, Hindus, Filipinos, as well as United States cavalry and artillerymen, and cowboys. The show will be seen here tonight.

Cock-crowing competitions are popular in Belgium. Such contests usually last about an hour, at the end of which time the owner of the bird which has executed the largest number of crows wins the prize.

Most of the larger towns in Chekiang, China, are establishing chambers of commerce; these are semi-official bodies, being under the supervision of the local bureau of agriculture, trade, industry and mines.

During the first three months of the present year there were 536 strikes in the erman empire. Last year there were 2405 strikes, only 538 of which were a complete success for the strikers.

A bullet that hits the mark but does not kill has just been invented by Dr. Deirders of Paris. The details of its construction are not mentioned, but it is said to be hollow, and can be used several times. In a test for duel practice pistols were used with steel guards resembling a sword hilt, because, although the bullet does not penetrate the clothing, it would naked flesh. Both men wore goggles. Out of 272 shots 292 struck some part of the bodies of the duelists.

NOTES OF THE RAILWAYS

The Latest Innovation of the Canadian Pacific.

QUICK LUNCHEON SERVICE EN ROUTE

Smokeless Train Shed Invented For Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Road—An Invention to Avert Accidents—The Twentieth Century
Railroad Crossing.

The latest innovation of the Canadian Pacific for the convenience of travelers on its lines is a quick lunch car, and it is said to be proving immensely popular. The new car is a regulation seventy-two foot diner, but instead of being equipped with tables and seats for thirty-six people it is furnished with a lunch counter which will afford accommodation for fifty or more people at one time, just as in the best equipped quick lunch counters on city business streets.

The car is a marvel of economy in space and will be used chiefly for pilgrimages and long distance excursion trains, which carry more people than could possibly find accommodation in the one or two dining cars that are carried by a big train.

The new lunch car is equipped with cold storage and a big cooking range of the familiar grill room hooded type, and behind the counter there is plenty of room for the cooks and attendants.
Moreover, the car has a cellar—an unusual equipment for a railroad train.
The cellar is only two or three feet deep, but it is well refrigerated, and has accommodation for a quantity of provisions, enough for a two or three days' run. The interior of the counter is fitted up with cold storage facilities for carrying milk and other perishable foods. The water and other coarse supplies are carried in tanks on the roof. An excellent cheap quick lunch is furnished, a la carte, and wherever the car has been used it has been freely

A smokeless train shed has been invented by Lincoln Bush, chief engineer for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road. As well as relieving the passengers from the discomfort of breathing the noxious gases, with which the average train shed is filled, it serves the purpose of protecting the framework of the structure from disintegration and decay through the attacks made upon it by these same gases. The device has been utilized in the construction of the Lackawanna's new train shed at Hoboken. The shed is an extensive one. It has fourteen tracks under cover and embraces four acres of ground. The shed is much lighter than the average, being a series of arches supported by rows of cast iron columns. To get rid of the smoke and gas Engineer Bush has arranged that exactly over the center of each track there is a concrete smoke duct the whole length of the shed, the walls of which are carried down so that the tops of most of the stacks enter the duct. This is simply a long parallel slit in the roof two and one-half feet wide.

An invention has just been patented in England which, by use of the telephone, promises to avert railway accidents that arise from the inability of the engine driver to see the signals along the line. He will be apprised of danger by audible signals in the engine itself, and these warnings will be given automatically.

The inventor, Frederick Hall of Eastbourne, an electrical engineer as well as an artist whose pictures have often been exhibited in the academy, explains the system in this manner:
Every signal box and engine would be fitted with an ordinary telephonic instrument. The engine would have two wires reaching down to the line.
That in the box would be connected with wires to a section of the line which would be electrified whenever the signals were set against the train, but not when the line was clear, the electrification being carried out automatically.

E. T. Dumas of Toledo has invented what is called the twentieth century railroad crossing, and it will be tested by the Toledo terminal within a short time. Mr. Dumas claims for his invention the following points:
Eliminates bumping in crossing another railroad; does not touch tracks of intersecting railroad; elevating can be put in curves at crossings; no guard rails used, as in the old style of crossings, as bumping is eliminated; it lengthens the life of the crossing; no bolts to work loose; no wear or tear on rolling stock and a number of other improvements over the present crossings. In appearance the new crossing is practically the same as the ones now in use, but there is a vast difference in the class of material used, and the new one is said to be more secure. Pennsylvania railroad officials will witness the test.

Mustache the Correct Thing Now.
The tiny mustache is in again. The smooth faced man has had his day, and the chap with the drooping mustache must chop the droop off and curl up the ends if he wants to be considered smart, says the New York American.
Women have ever favored smooth faced men, who themselves are strong promoters of the new fad. A hirsute disguise may prevent their being taken for dummies, an annoyance to which they constantly are subjected. Especially is this true when they are in evening clothes. Though the work of raising a mustache may be irksome, it is not so bad mentally as the sacrificing of the beard of a lifetime.

Cheapness of Swiss Telephones.
"I was in Switzerland in June, before the rush set in," said a globe trotter,
"and what most struck me there was the height of the mountains and the lowliness of the telephone rates. The government owns the Swiss telephone system, and a phone costs only $12 a year. This small fee gives you 800 calls, and for excess calls all you pay is 1 cent each."

mier of England, is a noted French scholar.

Marksmen Buton won by Woman.
Officials of the recent national shooting tournament at Sea Girt, N. J., are in a quandary as to whether to certify a woman to the war department as an expert marksman, says the New York Herald. The woman is Mrs. Elizabeth Topperwein of San Antonio, Tex., the only competitor of her sex on the range. She earned a marksman button and got it, but the question of certification must be settled by the national board for the promotion of rifle practice. Mrs. Topperwein was excluded by their conditions from the big matches, but she entered the national marksman match, a continuous competition, which entitles those making 50 points out of a total of 75 to be enrolled in the war department as a national marksman. She shot with an automatic rifle and made a total of 50.
She was congratulated on all sides.

New Life Saving Apparatus.
M. Pierre Samois, who has invented a new life saving apparatus, went to the Louvre swimming baths a day or two ago to test it. The apparatus consists of two small circular metal buoys, through which the arms are passed. A belt connects the buoys, which are constructed in such a way as to be practically unbreakable. M. Samois' invention was put to many tests by expert swimmers, and it was found that it was able to remain under water a moment while wearing the apparatus.

MANSFIELD

Will Get Gas From Wells in Richland County—More Wells Are to Go Down.

Mansfield, O., Sept. 14.—The Logan Natural Gas and Fuel company is arranging to run the product of the Burneson well and their other wells in the local field into their mains for use in this city.

The company also expects to put down a number of other wells in this vicinity and in the neighborhood of Bellville, in fact, it is their intention to give the local field a thorough trying out. The well which the company is now putting down a little less than a quarter of a mile east of the present Burneson well and on the same farm, has now reached a depth of about 1,000 feet and it is expected that this well will be completed by October 1. The elevation at which this well was started is about 50 feet higher than that of the first Burneson well and it is thought that the drilling will have to go to a depth of about 2,400 feet to strike gas.

Next Sunday the gas in the city will be shut off for a few hours in order to put in a T and a gate on the main line about 2 1/2 miles west of the city. The putting in of a gate at this point will make it possible for Mansfield to have a supply of gas even if there should be a break in the main line, as in that event the product of the local field could be fallen back on.

GASPING

Her Young Life Away, a Child is Discovers in Miner's Cabin—In Pursuit of Father.

Conville, W. Va., Sept. 14.—Somewhere in the wilderness of Fayette county, back of the great Berwind White mines, Battali Dhecheki, a Slav miner, is hiding from a posse of enraged men who seek his life. Dhecheki is charged with literally beating his 11-year-old stepdaughter to death, after having assaulted her.

The deed was not discovered until late yesterday, when a man named Carson of Parkersburg, happened to go to the cabin of the Slav and found the girl gasping away her life on the rough cabin floor. He immediately gave the alarm, and a physician was dispatched to the scene, while a posse was organized for pursuit.

The child lived but a few hours, just long enough to tell the story of her wrongs before she breathed her last. The men, armed to the teeth, have been out since last night searching for the foreigner, and if he is found a lynching will doubtless result.

An effort is being made to send out the sheriff and a crowd of deputies in an effort to take them before the would-be lynchers capture and wreak their vengeance upon him. The victim of the assault had been taking care of his home for him and doing the cooking since the death of her mother a few months ago.

She was the daughter of Samuel Swensen, a Swedish miner, who was killed by a fall of slate in a coal mine about two years ago, when her mother married Dhecheki. Whether the Slav will succeed in evading his pursuers is not known, but it is possible in that rough country.

It seems strange at this late date their daily bread in a very curious way, yet it is a fact nevertheless. They are now being used as signals in submarine boats. Should there be the least leakage of naphtha, the little animals give warning by a series of incessant squeaks, for they have a great dislike for the irritating odor of that article. They are rated on the books of the British navy as ordinary seamen, and are paid at the rate of 1 shilling a week each, which is used to provide them with food.

INVESTIGATION

Of the Maine Election Will be Made by the Democrats—Mr. Davis' Statement.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 14.—"This election will be thoroughly investigated, and it is likely the investigation will be carried to the ballots if need be."

This statement is made by Cyrus for governor of Maine, at the election Monday, who by the face of the returns, was defeated by Governor Wm. Cobb, Republican, by 1882 votes. Mr. Davis made the statement in commenting on a news item which appeared in his personal organ, the Waterville Sentinel. The item says:

"The Maine election is still in doubt. There is a good prospect that the Democrats will not only control the next Maine house of representatives, but on joint ballot will have a majority of the entire legislature and elect a United States senator to succeed Mr. Frye. As a sample of what is being done it may be mentioned that the investigation of the returns already shows the election of three Democratic representatives in places where the Republicans claimed to be winners. Information is at hand which indicates that this three may be many times multiplied—in fact, times enough to insure the control of the legislature."

A careful revision of the lists in the light of belated returns indicates the Democrats will have 8 of the 21 senators and 60 of the 151 representatives in the next legislature. This is a gain for the minority party of four senators and 34 representatives.

HEROIC TRAINING.

Fierce Ordeal the Chinese Military Code Prescribes.

Chinese military training of today shows a queer mixture of ancient and modern methods. A correspondent writes from Hunan: "I, however, saw a performance which I doubt whether many foreigners have seen. Its object was to make the body strong and also insensible to pain. It was a most gruesome sight. The men came forward in threes, stripped to the waist, having tied their turbans tightly round their waists. Each picked up a sort of iron truncheon about twenty inches long, weighing at least fifteen pounds, there being three sizes. This truncheon was made of two bars of flat iron tied together. The operator, having made his bow to the commanding officer, seized the truncheon in one hand, swung it round, gave a snort and brought it down smack on his chest. The double irons gave a resounding clank. The beads of perspiration oozed out.

Three blows were delivered on the right breast, then three on the left with the other hand. Then the muscles of the arms were treated in the same way. Then both hands were used, and the club was swung over the head down the back. Then the forehead was subjected to three stunning blows. This was followed by subjecting to a similar tumbling the extended thighs, where the full weight of the instrument came down, whatever it did in the other parts.

"Some added variations, and extras, but all finished by taking the truncheon in both hands and driving the big end deep into their abdomens. This also was done three times. It was explained to me that if they could stand this infliction of pain, for it was self-evidently a tremendous ordeal, they would be unmoved by any ordinary knocking about. This I am willing to grant, but I seriously question whether the human body can go on standing what I then saw."—Chicago News.

Russia Moves Slowly.

Observers of the west were somewhat surprised that the dissolution of the douma was not immediately followed by a popular uprising or an immediate panic in Russian securities. They forget that Russia is an agricultural continent rather than a kingdom, that its capital is fettered in bonds of steel, that its swiftest means of internal communication are in the hands of the government alone, and that, with its douma suppressed, its people, the peasantry especially, have no organ through which their mind will be expressed. From the moment of the convention of the states general the people of France were never without a doubt, and until the "iron artillery officer" shot down the "sections" they were never without an army of revolution. The Russian people move heavily and may take years before their general will is effective, their movement being that of the glacier rather than the avalanche. Still they are moving. London Spectator

Akron Sept. 14.—Akron and Newark split even in two of the worst games of the season yesterday. The first game was lost in the first inning by the locals. Fielder Bailey pitched the second game for Newark and until the seventh the game was in doubt. The teams seemingly tied with each other to make bad plays. Harkins practically won his own game in the seventh by a double that sent in two runs and started a batting rally. Scores:

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA
The real cause for Eczema is the presence of humors and sour acids in the blood. These impurities get into the circulation because of imperfect action of those members of the system whose duty it is to collect and carry off the refuse and waste of the body. As this effete matter lies in the system it ferments and generates acrid humors which are absorbed into the blood, overcharging this vital fluid with acid. In its effort to keep the system healthy the blood throws off the humors through the pores and glands of the skin, causing this tormenting skin disease. The escape of acids and humors through the pores and glands irritates and burns the skin, producing pustules filled with a clear, sticky fluid, which dries in crusts and patches, causing the most intense itching, and often pain. The trouble is in the blood, and S. S. S. is the remedy for Eczema, because it is a real blood purifier. It goes down into the circulation, removes all acids and humors and makes the blood rich, pure and healthy. When S. S. S. has done this the symptoms pass away, the blood is cooled and the disease cured permanently. Nothing acts so promptly or pleasantly in all skin diseases as S. S. S., and it is at the same time a fine tonic to the entire system. Book on Skin Diseases and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

"WID" CONROY'S STEADY PLAY IS HELPING HIGHLANDERS TO WIN.

One of the members of the New York American League team who has contributed his share and more to the club's success by his steady play in many different positions is "Wid" Conroy. Not only has he been fielding unusually well, but his batting has been exceptionally strong and timely, and next to Chase, he is the anchor of the club.

Robert J. is known to just back of the infield. The hits by scores of Akron fans. When his father was pitching for Kent he was the team's mascot. When Bob made the home run Saturday, his boy yelled, "Go it, dad."

Never did teams play so perfectly. Hits to the outfield, except liners, were played for by both outer garden fielders. Dick Nallin saved a run in the eleventh by being in for a short fly by Linke with Havel on third. Mathay made two catches against the left field fence, both without long runs. "Matty" copped another ball.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AT OYSTER BAY CHURCH CELEBRATION.

SCENE AT THE CHURCH

JUDGE BRISTER GIVES DECISIONCASE INVOLVES TITLE TO THE
PROPERTY OF THE LATE MISSSES WILSON.Opinion Rendered by the Court is in Favor of the Plaintiffs—Full Text of Decision.

Probate Judge Brister handed down his decision Friday morning in the case of I. N. Wilson, administrator etc., against Charles O. Wilson and others. As this case is of general interest, involving the title to property in which the Misses Wilson had lived for over 50 years, and by whose joint will the First Presbyterian church of this city was made residuary legatee, Kibler & Montgomery and C. C. Forry appeared for the plaintiff, I. N. Wilson, and Flory & Flory appeared for the defendants, Charles O. Wilson and others. As will be seen by the following decision the court decides in favor of the plaintiff.

The State of Ohio, Licking County, ss. In Probate Court.

I. N. Wilson, as Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Cynthia Jane Wilson and Sarah Ann Wilson, Deceased, Plaintiff, vs.

Charles O. Wilson, et al, Defendants.
This case comes into this Court upon the application of I. N. Wilson, as administrator with the will annexed of Cynthia Jane Wilson and Sarah Ann Wilson, deceased, to sell the real estate alleged to belong to said decedents, to pay the debts of said estate and costs of administration, under the statute.

Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson,

James W. Gillies and others are made defendants, as next of kin and legatees.

Charles O. Wilson and William Wilson file their answer herein and deny that Cynthia Jane Wilson and Sarah Ann Wilson were jointly seized of an estate in fee simple in the real estate described in the petition and decree that Sarah Ann Wilson died seized of an estate in fee simple in the real estate described in the petition; and deny every other allegation in said petition, not specifically admitted by them to be true. They also allege, that as heirs of Joseph A. Wilson, they are the owners of and are jointly seized in fee simple of an undivided one-sixth interest in the real estate described in said petition, subject to the dower interest therein of Pauline H. Wilson, their mother.

James W. Gillies also files his answer, making the same denials of an estate in fee simple in Cynthia Jane Wilson and Sarah Ann Wilson in the premises described, that Charles O. Wilson and William Wilson make, and setting up that, as the sole heir of Maria Gillies he is seized in fee simple of the undivided one-sixth interest in the real estate described in the petition.

Pauline H. Wilson files her answer, making the same denials as above and claiming that as the widow of John O. Wilson, who was a son of James A. Wilson, who was a brother of John D. Wilson, she is entitled to dower in the undivided one-sixth interest in said premises.

The replies of the plaintiff, I. N. Wilson, administrator, to the answers of Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson, Pauline H. Wilson and James W. Gillies—as well as the reply of the First Presbyterian Church of Newark, Ohio,—deny all the allegations of said defendants' answers and set up for a second reply, that for more than fifty years said plaintiff's decedents, the said Cynthia Jane Wilson and Sarah Ann Wilson, have been in open, notorious, adverse, exclusive and continuous possession of the premises described in the petition, under a claim of right; and exercised open and notorious acts of ownership, among others, selling a portion of said real estate, under a general warranty, deed; and that the title or claim of said defendants, Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson, Pauline H. Wilson and James W. Gillies is barred by the statutes of limitations of 21 years, which plaintiff pleads in bar of the claim of said defendants.

For a third reply, said plaintiff says that on the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1884, the said decedents, Cynthia Jane Wilson and Sarah Ann Wilson, commenced in the Court of Common Pleas of Licking County, Ohio,—being Case No. 3323,—their certain civil action against the unknown heirs of

John D. Wilson, his living heirs were: John O. Wilson, son of James A. Wilson and father of Charles O. and William Wilson; Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson; J. Adaline Wilson, who afterward married William M. Wilson; Maria Wilson, who married James W. Gillies; and Evaline Wilson, who married Bradley Buckingham. In 1866, Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson, acquired, by quit claim deeds, the interest of Emma M. Lewis and Laura H. Buckingham, heirs of Evaline Buckingham; and of J. Adaline Wilson, and her husband, in the premises, being at that time the joint owners of two-sixths of said premises, as the heirs of John D. Wilson, by descent, and of two additional sixths, by purchase, as just recited; being in 1866 the owners in fee simple of four-sixths of the premises—the contention in this case, of course, being as to the title of the remainder, two-sixths, one-sixth of which is claimed by James W. Gillies and the other one-sixth by Charles O. Wilson and William Wilson.

The statute of limitations and the judgment of the Licking County Common Pleas Court, heretofore recited, are pleaded in bar of the claims of said defendants and as establishing the claim of Sarah Ann Wilson, the survivor of Cynthia Jane Wilson, to a fee simple in the entire estate.

The testimony of the plaintiff and the defendants and other witnesses, has been introduced in evidence and a great deal of law has been cited to the Court, pro and con. The Court has considered the evidence and has carefully examined the legal authorities cited; and without going into unnecessary detail, has reached the following conclusion:

The case in the Common Pleas Court of this County, decided at the September Term, 1881, was brought by Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson against the unknown heirs of John D. Wilson and John D. Wilson, and the Court thinks that the judgment, as such, was binding against them. But the Court does not think that Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson, Pauline H. Wilson and James W. Gillies are unknown heirs of John D. Wilson; but that the evidence shows that their residence was probably known to Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson. The Court finds that said Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson, Pauline H. Wilson and James W. Gillies were not parties to said suit and were not concluded by the judgment therein; but, the court further finds that said suit and said judgment were good and binding notice upon said Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson, Pauline H. Wilson and James W. Gillies, and to the world, that said Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson claimed said premises, as tenants in common in fee simple, and that these defendants were bound to take notice of said claim and act accordingly; that is, either to admit or oppose said claim.

The defense of the statute of limitations was supported by the evidence of Charles Kibler, Daniel Thomas, John E. Fulton, I. N. Wilson and Mrs. D. D. Wilson, all of whom testified that Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson were in possession of these premises from over forty to over fifty years; that they exercised ownership and control over them, and that they always claimed to own them. The evidence further showed that said premises were on the tax duplicate, and had been for many years, in the joint names of said Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson, and that they always paid the taxes on them; the evidence also showed that they made repairs to said premises and in 1891 had sold a lot off of them to Walter Coffman.

Mrs. Beattie testified on this point that Mrs. Gillies visited the Wilson sisters shortly after the sale; and that she apparently made no protest and acquiesced in it; finally, the evidence showed the bringing of the suit in 1881, to quiet title, and it is determined in favor of the plaintiffs therein, over twenty-one years ago.

There is no question but that the statute of limitations, as pleaded against one who claims to be a co-tenant, must be supported by stronger evidence than when pleaded against a stranger. It is the law, too, the Court thinks, that the co-tenant must have notice, either actual or constructive, of the claim of the other co-tenant to the fee. Nor is the mere act of paying taxes, or making necessary repairs, for a long period of time, conclusive of a claim to the fee.

But the evidence in this case shows, beyond all doubt, that Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson occupied the premises in controversy, under a claim of right, and controlled them, uninterruptedly, for a period of over fifty years; that their possession was open, notorious, adverse and exclusive; that, in addition to this possession and in addition to the exercise of various acts of ownership, their conveying a portion of the land and their suit to quiet title were conclusive notice of their claim to the defendants to this suit, upon which they were bound to act.

In all these fifty-odd years, during which Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson had exclusive and continuous possession and control of these premises, the evidence does not disclose a single act of these defendants, asserting title to these premises, or endeavoring to enforce such claim. On the contrary, they have stood by and waited until the dust of the tomb has strewed the months of these two women; and until their administrator filed his petition in due course of law, to sell the real estate before getting up a claim to any title in these premises.

The Court therefore finds, that the defense of the statute of limitations is well pleaded by the plaintiff, and by the defendant, the First Presbyterian church, and is an effectual bar to the claim of said defendants; that the other defendants have slept upon their rights, if they ever had any; and have been guilty of gross laches, and are now estopped from setting up any claim to said premises; that Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson were jointly seized in fee simple of the premises described in the petition, in their joint lifetime, and that Sarah Ann Wilson, the survivor, died seized, in fee simple of the entire estate described in plaintiff's petition.

The answers of defendants herein, Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson, Pauline H. Wilson and James W. Gillies, are dismissed, and plaintiff is ordered to sell said premises, as prayed for, according to the statute in such cases made and provided. The costs herein will be taxed to the defendants, Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson, Pauline H. Wilson and James W. Gillies.

The street railway operating plant of Portland, Ore., which employs saw mill refuse as fuel, has adopted a chime-separating plant with great success. A powerful draught from a steel fan forces the furnace smoke through a steel plate into a vertical steel cylinder 22 feet in diameter. The bottom is a cone-shaped hopper for receiving the cinders, while the smoke, after losing its velocity, slowly emerges through an aperture at the top. As the gases lose velocity the cinders, being heavier, drop into the hopper, whence they are conveyed back to the furnace to be completely burned. Besides abating the nuisance, the boiler economy is increased.

Japan is connected with continent of Asia by a submarine bank, over which the water is nowhere more than 100 fathoms in depth.

John D. Wilson and John D. Wilson, alleging, among other things, that plaintiffs in said action were in possession of in-lots Nos. 512 and 513, in the city of Newark, Ohio, which includes all the real estate in the petition described; and praying that the defendant's might be compelled to disclose their interest in said premises, that the same should be adjudged to be null and void and that the title of the said Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson in said real estate might be quieted against the claims of John D. Wilson, or the unknown heirs of John D. Wilson; that, at the September Term, A. D. 1884, of said Court of Common Pleas, the said Court duly rendered a judgment and decree, that the legal title and estate in the said petition described was in Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson; that they held the same, in fee simple, as tenants in common; and the said Court did further quiet the title in said Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson, against the defendants in said action; and did forever enjoin the defendants in that action from setting up any claim of any kind adverse to the interests of said Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson; and said judgment and decree are pleaded in bar of said defendants' claim to said real estate.

Now, one John D. Wilson was the original owner of the real estate in controversy. As far as the evidence goes, he was a single man and died without issue. John D. had one brother, James A. Wilson, who died before John D. Wilson died, or disappeared. James A. was the grandfather of Charles O. and William Wilson. John D. Wilson left five sisters surviving him, viz: Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane, who never married; J. Adaline, who married William F. Wilson; Maria, who married William Gillies, father of James W. Gillies, and Evaline, who married Bradley Buckingham.

September 14th, 1850, John D. Wilson acquired title to lot No. 512 in the city of Newark, and May 23rd, of the same year, to lot No. 513, being the same property now in controversy, excepting a lot carved out of it and subsequently conveyed, by warranty deed, by said Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson, to Walter Coffman, in the year 1891.

Some time later, in 1850, John D. Wilson left Newark, intending to go to California. It is said, and never returned. He was heard from once, a short time after his departure; but, has never been heard from again since that time, a period of over fifty years; and, is presumed to be dead, and dead without issue of his body.

Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson, both unmarried, continued to occupy the said premises, uninterruptedly, over 50 years, from 1850, until Cynthia Jane died, some two years ago, Sarah Ann dying in 1906.

At the time of the disappearance of John D. Wilson, his living heirs were: John O. Wilson, son of James A. Wilson and father of Charles O. and William Wilson; Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson; J. Adaline Wilson, who afterward married William M. Wilson; Maria Wilson, who married James W. Gillies; and Evaline Wilson, who married Bradley Buckingham. In 1866, Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson, acquired, by quit claim deeds, the interest of Emma M. Lewis and Laura H. Buckingham, heirs of Evaline Buckingham; and of J. Adaline Wilson, and her husband, in the premises, being at that time the joint owners of two-sixths of said premises, as the heirs of John D. Wilson, by descent, and of two additional sixths, by purchase, as just recited; being in 1866 the owners in fee simple of four-sixths of the premises—the contention in this case, of course, being as to the title of the remainder, two-sixths, one-sixth of which is claimed by James W. Gillies and the other one-sixth by Charles O. Wilson and William Wilson.

The statute of limitations and the judgment of the Licking County Common Pleas Court, heretofore recited, are pleaded in bar of the claims of said defendants and as establishing the claim of Sarah Ann Wilson, the survivor of Cynthia Jane Wilson, to a fee simple in the entire estate.

The testimony of the plaintiff and the defendants and other witnesses, has been introduced in evidence and a great deal of law has been cited to the Court, pro and con. The Court has considered the evidence and has carefully examined the legal authorities cited; and without going into unnecessary detail, has reached the following conclusion:

The case in the Common Pleas Court of this County, decided at the September Term, 1881, was brought by Sarah Ann Wilson and Cynthia Jane Wilson against the unknown heirs of John D. Wilson and John D. Wilson, and the Court thinks that the judgment, as such, was binding against them. But the Court does not think that Charles O. Wilson, William Wilson, Pauline H. Wilson and James W. Gillies are unknown heirs of John D. Wilson; but that the evidence shows that their residence was probably known to Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson. The Court finds that said Charles O. The defense of the statute of limitations was supported by the evidence of Charles Kibler, Daniel Thomas, John E. Fulton, I. N. Wilson and Mrs. D. D. Wilson, all of whom testified that Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson were in possession of these premises from over forty to over fifty years; that they exercised ownership and control over them, and that they always claimed to own them. The evidence further showed that said premises were on the tax duplicate, and had been for many years, in the joint names of said Sarah Ann and Cynthia Jane Wilson, and that they al-

THE STANDARD OF QUALITY IN BLACK SILKS.

MONEYBAK BLACK SILKS IN THE NEW FINISH.

The production of a silk of such thoroughly satisfactory qualities as the Moneybak was a great accomplishment; but when the time came to make a radical change in the finish of the silks, it meant a tremendous amount of work and experiment for the manufacturers. This has been done without stint. French processes and finishes have been thoroughly studied, and even French workmen have been secured in the accomplishment. But it was necessary to preserve the well-known wearing qualities for which Moneybak silks have become famous. All of this has been successfully accomplished.

To-day the new silks are here. The Moneybak guarantee is woven in the selvage of every piece, and the money paid will be returned promptly if any defect is discovered. And yet these silks have the soft glow of kid finish, and the correct lustre of the most desirable French silks.

THREW OPEN KNIFE PIERCING BOY'S NECK

With a hole in his back, a little too close to the spinal column for comfort, Bernard McManis, the nine year old son of Mrs. Margaret McManis of Ninth street, was brought to Mayor McCleery's office by Officer "Doc" Brooks Friday afternoon. The lad's assailant, George McCrum, a 13 year old boy, was also in the custody of the officer, and after explaining the matter to the mayor, the McCrum boy was taken to the city prison, where he was held on a charge of cutting to wound.

There seems to have been bad blood between the boys for some time. McCrum claims that the McManis lad called him a liar and for that reason he threw an open pocket knife at the younger boy.

McManis called the older boy a cate reporter who was in the mayor's office. He said that several days ago the McCrum boy took a watch from some one who was in swimming at the creek. The McManis boy told the loser of the watch, who got it Friday afternoon at the show grounds, several boys were eating watermelon, which was being carved by the McCrum boy. McManis asked for a piece and McCrum is said to have replied: "I'd give you a piece if you hadn't told that he about me taking the watch."

McManis called the older boy a liar, according to the story told and without further words McCrum threw the open knife at McManis. The blade penetrated the flesh just over the spinal column, between the shoulders. It then fell to the ground. A bystander who saw the faces called Officer Brooks and the officer with the injured lad, went into the show tent, where they placed McCrum under arrest.

Dr. C. F. Legge was called and took the injured boy to his office, where the injury was dressed. The wound is not regarded as serious, though it was perilously near the spine.

LEWIS CLAIMS HE WAS ASSAULTED

POLICE CHIEF THINKS THAT THE ALLEGED HOLD-UP WAS A BLUFF.

Doctors Who Were Called Could Find No Evidence of Injury—Sheridan's Theory.

"A holdup on New a highway," the question? Such was the salient of Chief Sheridan in the Lewis alleged holdup case, and his conclusion is that it is "not a holdup." Harry Lewis, who has figured before in holdups which the police have rather doubted was found Thursday night lying in an apparently unconscious condition, near the sidewalk between Fourth and Fifth streets, on West Locust street, near the lumber shed of the Henry O. Norris lumber yard. He was found by Archie Riggs, colored, who with several other young colored men, were on their way home. It was first thought the man was dead and other passers-by were called and the supposed dead man was examined.

As the body was lying partly in the yard of Dr. Miller, the physician was called out and by that time Lewis had been partly revived. The first people on the scene found his pocketbook by his side. His pockets were turned inside out and there was every indication that the man had been struck in the back of the head with a black jack and robbed of all he possessed. However, there was one feature about the case which makes the police believe that it was a bluff. Lewis' grip or telescope was found close by the shed. It was placed closely against the building, and the police believe Lewis put it there before being "hold up."

Shortly after the doctor went to his side, Lewis arose in an apparently half dazed condition and rubbed the back of his head suggestively. It was decided to remove the man to his home and the Bowers and Criss ambulance was called for that purpose. Chief Sheridan accompanied the ambulance to the home and there was every indication in Lewis' conduct after his arrival at his home that he was uninjured.

At all times after his "unconscious" form was discovered, his pulse was normal and no indication of any injury could be found by the doctors. Lewis claimed to the police that he lost $7 which was in his pocketbook. Chief Sheridan in speaking of the matter said: "Lewis and his wife have not been living together for some time. It is my belief that Lewis desired to go home and did not want to go without an excuse he believed that if he was hauled home amputated, he would be received by Mrs. Lewis. Therefore he planned his story of all."

ROBBERS USE CHLOROFORM

Bold Attempt to Anaesthetize Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Brubaker Of West Newark--Intruder Dropped Pole And Aroused Mrs. Brubaker.

An effort to chloroform Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Brubaker of 68 State street, West Newark, was made at an early hour Friday morning and through the bungling of the robbers, the effort was foiled.

It was at an early hour on Friday morning that Mrs. Brubaker was awakened by a heavy pole falling on her body. It was discovered that the screen in their sleeping apartment, which is on the first floor, had been removed, and the robbers had fastened a piece of cloth on a clothes prop. This was saturated with chloroform, and it was being held to Mrs. Brubaker's nose, when the robbers were frightened.

Mrs. Brubaker awakened her husband, and though badly frightened, Mr. Brubaker called his son-in-law, Mr. Joe R. Moser, who lives near by, and a search was made of the neighborhood for the robbers.

In spite of the fact that the robbers had been gone from the Brubakers' home but a few moments, no trace of them could be found. Their tracks were discovered at several of the windows, but no clue which would lead to the identity of the marauders could be found. The police are working on the case.

Washing in France. Only one American washing machine has ever been introduced into Bordeaux, France, according to Consul Murphy. "There was," he says, "one such machine introduced here some years ago, but as it was not properly advertised or presented to the public in an intelligent manner it seemed to make but little impression. Washerwomen from the country monopolize the washing business, gathering the soiled linen one week and returning it the next. They boil the clothes, use chemicals to whiten them, rinse them in the nearest stream and spread the articles over grass, hedges and barbed wire fences to dry, which does not conduce to long wear of linen. The cleaned goods are then returned to the families, who send them to an ironer, where they are generally kept another week."

He will appear at only twenty concerts in this country, so that only the largest cities will be distinguished by a visit.

NOT AUTHORIZED WAS LANDING OF U. S. MARINES

ALL BUT FEW ORDERED BACK

HARBOR.

GOVERNMENT IS PREPARED

Officials of Uncle Sam are Profoundly Interested in Reports From the Cuban Capital.

Washington, Sept. 14.—It was officially announced that the sailors who were landed at Havana from the United States cruiser Denver were ordered to immediately return to their vessel, except a small guard left at the United States legation. This action followed the receipt of an official report by Acting Secretary of State Bacon from Mr. Sleeper, the United States charge d'affaires at Havana regarding the landing of marines.

Sleeper's report was not made public but it was announced afterward that the sailors were landed from the Denver solely and simply for the protection of the lives and property of citizens of the United States; that such action was in pursuance of a discussion between Mr. Sleeper and the naval commander with the belief that it was a wise precaution looking to the protection of the lives and property of Americans. There was no intention, it is stated, to do otherwise than to safeguard United States interests and the services of the sailors were to be utilized only in case of disorders within the city which threatened such interests. That the landing in any way contemplated the protection of either the Cuban government or the insurgents, or President Palma or any other persons than citizens of the United States was disclaimed officially and it was pointed out that this fact could not be emphasized too strongly.

The landing of the blue jackets of the Denver on Cuban soil and their camping in front of President Palma's palace in Havana, in anticipation of possible attack or uprising caused the most profound interest in official circles here. It was stated on official authority that instructions to the officials were such that the armed force would not have been sent ashore from the Denver on the initiative of the naval commander, but only by a request coming through Mr. Sleeper, who perhaps is better acquainted with the internal situation than any naval officer. It had been the expressed hope of the Washington officials that no such eventuality as that which necessitated the landing of troops would arise.

The Denver was despatched to Cuba under instructions communicated to the vessel by wireless telegraph while the vessel was proceeding down the Atlantic coast. She was ordered to proceed to Cuba for the protection of American interests. The Denver carries 150 well drilled sailors and several field guns.

That the landing was a complete surprise to the government here was evident. That it was not made under instructions from Washington also was made plain but the reasons that actuated Commander Colwell were set forth in his dispatch.

It is stated there is no purpose of intervention in all this; that President Palma has been so informed, and the ships are going to Cuba precisely as they would go to one of the South or Central American republics in case of war or revolution where considerable American interests were threatened. There will be no interference with the politics of the island.

It is realized, however, that by some unexpected act on the part of the government or the rebel forces the United States may be obliged to abandon this attitude of neutrality and carry out the provisions of the Platt amendment. It is confidently believed by the authorities here that this will not be necessary but common prudence obliged the military and naval general staff and board to provide against any eventuality.

So while the navy is preparing its ships, the army is being carefully studied by officers with the view to quick, sharp and effective action in case its services are needed.

The only portions made public of dispatches received at the state department from Mr. Sleeper, charge at Havana, say that there was fighting in Pinar del Rio and in the vicinity of Cienfuegos.

Conference at Oyster Bay.
Oyster Bay, Sept. 14.—The Cuban situation is the subject of a conference here, between President Roosevelt, acting Secretary of State Bacon and Secretary Bonaparte, the two officials being guests of the president at luncheon. Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana who is a member of the senate committee on Cuban relations, is also present. There was no fresh development here in the Cuban situation but the presence of the acting head of the state department and the head of the navy department was taken advantage of by the president to go over the situation in the island republic. The administration seemingly considers that in despatching warships to Cuba it has taken no steps whatever to restore or to preserve the peace of the island under the terms of the Platt amendment.

Because of his musical triumphs, Father Hartmann was decorated by the Pope with the Golden Cross, first class, Ecclesia et Pontifice. ALL LAWS Defied by the Colony of Malays Near New Orleans—Horrible Atrocities Practiced.

New Orleans, Sept. 14.—United States Commissioner Chiapella has discovered a hotbed of crime and defiance to state and federal laws by a colony of Malays who occupy an isolated island less than 50 miles from New Orleans. Judge Chiapella has a letter giving authentic information of shocking conditions in the little Malay settlement.

The Malays do not speak English, have no schools and know no laws but their own tribal regulations. It is believed many very atrocious crimes have been committed among them without coming to the knowledge of the state and federal authorities. The island is filthy and infested by millions of mosquitos of a specially poisonous type. These pests are raised by the Malays for the purpose of keeping out invaders, who dread being bitten by them. It is said that a favorite form of execution practiced by the Malays is to take one of their tribe sentenced to death, tie him to a tree in the swamp, remove his clothing and then leave him to be bitten by the poisonous mosquitos until life is extinct.

A section of the island where these terrible mosquitos abound by the millions is selected for the executions. The Malays pay no taxes and govern themselves.

THAW'S DEFENSE MAY BE CONDUCTED BY EX-GOV. BLACK

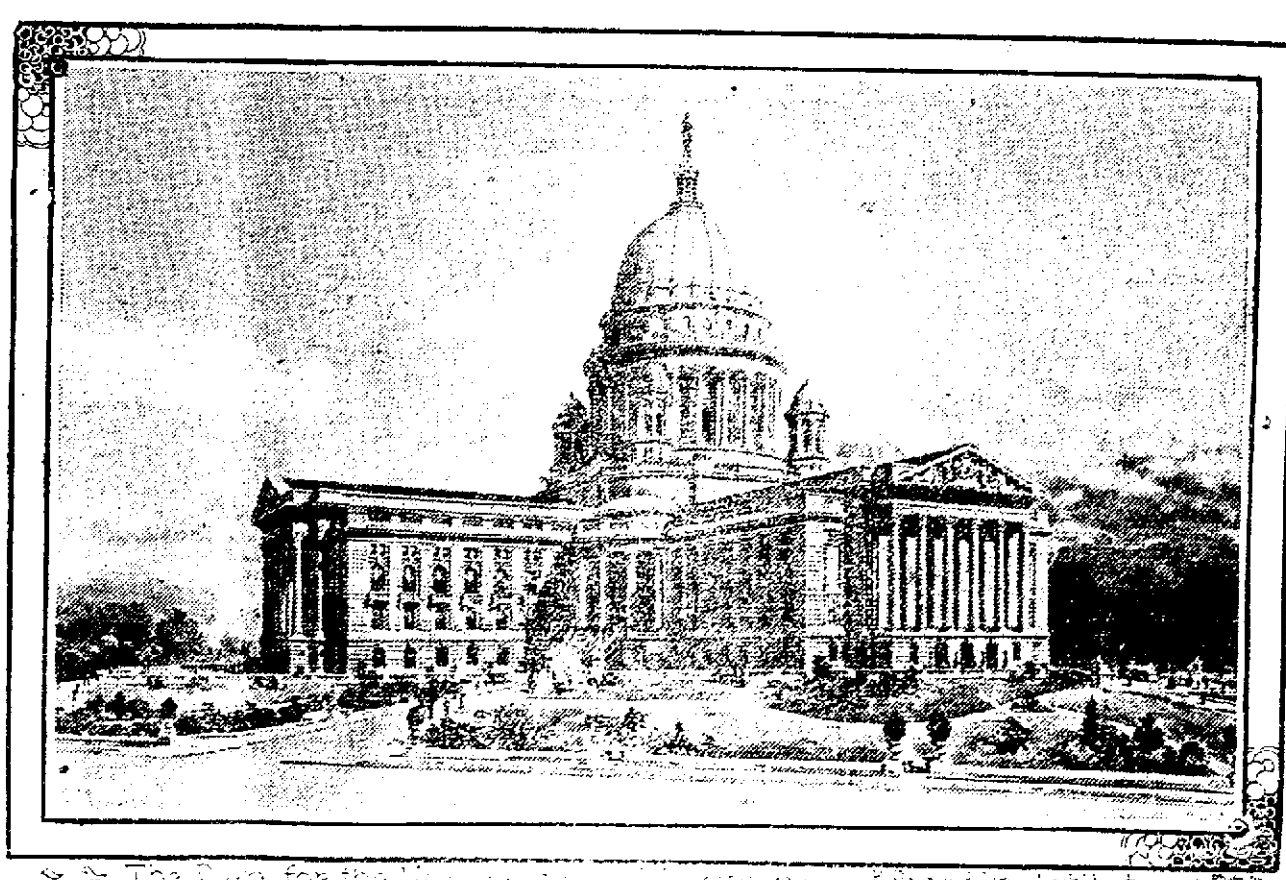

New York, Sept. 14.—Harry K. Thaw may be represented by former Governor Black as trial lawyer when he comes into court to face the charge of having killed Stanford White. This is a persistent rumor about the Tombs and even Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, on her daily visit with delicacies to her husband, would not make a denial.

It is also asserted that David T. Watson, the Pittsburg lawyer, will be among Thaw's counsel. Mr. Watson has paid two visits to Thaw, and each time has been in close consultation with him. When the young Mrs. Thaw was leaving the Tombs after her and she was asked if her husband had decided to drop Clifford W. Harridge from the case.

"Why," she exclaimed, "the very idea is absurd."

Vienna, Sept. 14.—Under the new electoral reform bill the privilege hitherto accorded women who are landed proprietors of voting at parliamentary elections is abolished. Baron von Bienerth, minister of the interior pointed out that all attempts to extend female suffrage on the continent had failed especially where universal suffrage was introduced, and he doubted the advisability of the step at the present stage of the political evolution of Austria.

MARINES LAND FROM THE DENVER ON CUBAN SOIL

REBELS OFFER TO SURRENDER, BEING PROMPTED TO DO SO BY MARINES.

IT IS REFERRED TO PALMA

They Ask That United States Guarantee Them Fair Trial—News From Cuba.

Havana, Sept. 14.—Before the people of Havana could realize what was taking place, 120 marines were landed from the United States cruiser Denver and encamped in front of the presidential palace.

The Denver which originally anchored further up the bay dropped down to a position abreast of the foot of O'Reilly street and in front of the offices of the captain of the port, so as to be conveniently near the detachment sent ashore and close at hand in case of need.

The whole business was done so quietly and quickly that it caused the greatest surprise. The reason for the sudden landing of the United States sailors was a conference between President Palma, Mr. Sleeper and Commander Colwell. Mr. Sleeper asked the president the direct question whether he considered the government able to protect all American interests in Havana unaided. The president replied that he hoped the government would be able to do so, but suggested that it might be advisable as a measure of precaution in the interests of Americans as well as for the maintenance of order in general to land marines at some convenient point, suggesting the Plaza de Armas.

Mr. Sleeper and Commander Colwell after a brief conference decided that the landing should be made and the detachment began coming ashore.

Questioned whether their duties on shore would simply be protection of American interests or defense of the palace and President Palma, officers of the detachment unanimously replied that if the town should be attacked or if an uprising occurred in the city they undoubtedly would have something to do regardless of the fine question as to who attacked.

The United States flag was hoisted inside of the low stone coping separating the castle grounds from O'Reilly street, which thoroughfare passes between the camp and the plaza de Armas. The United States sailors were armed with regulation rifles except a few who carry revolvers or carbines. Two field howitzers and two rapid firing guns were sent ashore with the sailors and point across the little park, a significant warning to anyone approaching the executive headquarters of the Cuban government with hostile intent.

Commander Colwell suggested that if quiet continued, the sailors from the Denver might return on board ship. President Palma however, urgently requested that they remain where they are. The president expressed satisfaction with the influence the presence of the blue jackets was producing and said he considered it a guarantee against an attack on or an uprising in Havana.

When Commander Colwell was shown a dispatch from Washington stating that the sailors from the cruiser Denver were ordered to return, he expressed great astonishment and said he had received no such order. He added that he believed the department had not deciphered his code message explaining the situation. Commander Colwell said he believed he had done right and was satisfied that events had so proved. However, if after reaching an understanding of the situation the navy department ordered the return of the sailors on board ship the order would be carried out within half an hour.

The sight of United States sailors encamped near the palace aroused great curiosity among the people at Havana, most of whom accepted it as an evidence of intervention.

An extraordinary incident in connection with the presence of blue jackets in Havana happened when Commander Colwell was approached by an accredited emissary of Alfred Zayas, head of the Liberal party and General Loyaz Del Castillo, commander of the insurgent forces in Havana province, with a signed offer from each of the men named to surrender their commands and hand over their arms to Commander Colwell on the sole condition that the United States government through him guarantees them fair and judicial trials.

Commander Colwell, accompanied by Mr. Sleeper immediately carried the proposition to President Palma. The president was immensely pleased and asked Commander Colwell if he would accept the surrenders. Commander Colwell replied in the negative, but advised the president to communicate with Washington officials on the subject which was done.

The popularity of the tailored short-sleeved blouse passed in the center of a waist for morning and outdoor wear is vastly on the increase, and the stock and belt worn therewith are expected to be of the same plain and severe type. All sorts of wash materials, provided that they be of sufficient body and firmness of weave, are in vogue, and headwork, except the buttonholes, is not expected. Three or four broad pleats are laid on either side of the front, coming well out on the shoulder and making for that broad line which is the accepted thing just now. CHICAGO TO NEW YORK, 57 HOURS, BY MOTOR.

L. L. WHITMAN.

New York, Sept. 14.—One hour and forty-four minutes were knocked off the automobile record by the six cylinder Franklin car which recently established the remarkable San Francisco-New York figures of fifteen days and six hours. The new Chicago-New York running time is 57 hours and nine minutes.

Several years ago L. L. Williams drove a Columbia car here from Chicago in 58 hours and 53 minutes. The Franklin agents, the Recanville Automobile company, say the Columbia car was driven over "the southern" route from Chicago and they contend that the route by which the Franklin car came is 150 miles longer. The Franklin passed through South Bend, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Albany and Poughkeepsie, arriving at Kingsbridge, at two minutes to twelve. The start had been made from Chicago at two o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mr. Whitman, who managed the Franklin's remarkable run from San Francisco, did not drive on this run. The drivers, in relays, were Carrie, Harris, Bates and Dalley. The entire run was made on one set of tires and without a single puncture.

CROTON EVENTS

Hartford Fair—Schools Open—Mrs. Graves' Death—Change in M. E. Church Pastors.

Croton, O., Sept. 14.—It was with much regret that the people here learned of the removal by the M. E. conference of our Brother and friend Rev. W. H. McDaniel, from the work here to Alexandria. Rev. Mr. McDaniel's pastorate here has been one of great good to our village, he and his family making warm friends of all the people during their stay at this place.

While we hate to lose him we congratulate Alexandria on getting him, and commend him to them as being one of the most able and conscientious Christian workers we have ever had, while we bid them God speed in their new field we turn and bid the Rev. D. J. Smith and his family a hearty welcome to the work here and we trust his and our experience will be of the most pleasing and beneficial to church workers and those yet outside the fold. Good night, Rev. McDaniel, good morning, Rev. Smith.

Mrs. Rhoda Graves the aged widow of Gustav Graves, died at the home of Mrs. Wm. Lincoln in Croton Tuesday morning, September 11 at about 9 o'clock. Mrs. Graves has been a long and patient sufferer, being relieved only by the hand of death, caused by paralysis. She was one of our very best citizens and up until her mind became affected some time ago, no one was more willing to befriend a neighbor than she was. Always willing to assist those about her and serving those of her immediate family seemed a source of great pleasure to her. The funeral services were held at the house where she died, on Wednesday at 2 o'clock p. m. conducted by Rev. McDaniel. Interment was made in the Croton cemetery.

When a man in search of a horse or business location goes to a town and finds everybody full of hope and enthusiasm over the prospects of the place, he, too, soon becomes imbued with the spirit, drives down the stakes and goes to work with equal interest.

No better prospects were ever present for an up to date high class fair than those for the present year. On Wednesday afternoon each department was full and in each one a splendid exhibit. All the races are filled and indications are that no time in the history of the fair was there better racing than will be seen here this week. Mr. B. I. Jones, a licensed starter of Granville, will start all the races at the fair. He arrived Tuesday night and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. P. Miller.

The schools opened here Monday, September 11, with a splendid attendance. The prospects are quite good for an excellent school year. Our superintendent, D. D. Pryor has made a remarkable record here, his past work proving him a very able scholar.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE MOTOR IN NEW CHINESE ARMY—REVIEW BY VICEROY OF KIANG-SU.

The motor car and the bicycle have been adopted by the Chinese army, now in process of reorganization. The present sketch was made while the Viceroy of Kiang-su was inspecting a brigade ordered to form a quick rifle corps. The troops have been put into khaki, and they carry Mausers with short bayonets. The men still wear the pigtail, which they tuck under a cloth belt or their kilt. The equipment is virtually identical with that of the Japanese, although, if anything, it follows the German model rather more. The staff officers have for the most part discarded pigtails, but they still wear their hair rather long. The Viceroy's hat was surrounded by a tall ball room which screamed a red alarm. The Celestial figure with the pigtail and long nails cut a very curious figure in the motor car, almost as curious as his orderly, who, with flying pigtail, rode for all he was worth on his bicycle.

Funds Will be Raised for Day Nursery A Worthy Charitable Institution---Merchants Will Help---Sept. 15 Fourth Anniversary of Tag Day.

- First, to speak of the Day Nursery, its work and object and a few of the facts concerning it, which are not generally known. Based upon the moral application of the fact that "the boys and girls of today make the men and women of tomorrow," and the view, from a practical standpoint, of the fact that the babes of this generation mean the rulers of the country, the builders of the nation, and the examples of the young in the future generations—based upon these facts, the institution was founded by practically the sole efforts of the one worker for charity, who has done more for the poor of the city by personal effort and actual hard work than any one woman in the city, and in fact, more than any institution, with the possible exception of the Salvation Army, by direct touch and association with the needy ones. That one woman is Mrs. George P. Webb. She, together with the Mary Webb Circle of King's Daughters, put the Day Nursery and Tap Day into operation, and the success of both institutions, which has now been proven, is all that she asked in remuneration for the physical and financial expense to which she has put herself. This year the movement is being grandly supported by the Martha and Mary Circle, of which Mary Sherwood Wright is leader, and the Brightening Circle of which Mrs. W. D. Fulton is the mother, and Miss Mary Owen leader. Private donations have been made in most appreciable sums by such citizens as E. H. Everett, Edward W. Grayton, A. H. Heiser, Alice Fleek Miller, M. Henry Fleek, Dr. H. E. Baker, and a number of others. The Licking County Creamery has supplied the institution with milk and butter. The Newark Steam Laundry has done the washings, the Munson Music company furnished a piano, and of the groceries and supplies donated by individuals, the Conrad grocery furnished the first month, and the Browne Sons' grocery the second, and so on. The institution is meeting the hearty support of those business firms and citizens who are in a position to

Back of all of the success of th

Granville, Sept. 14—The fall semester of Denison university commenced on Thursday with a largely increased number of students. The past year has been one of the most prosperous in the history of the institution, and the coming year opens under the most favorable auspices. At the opening exercises in chapel on Thursday Dr. C. J. Baldwin led the prayers. Every room in the dormitories is now engaged and the rooming in private homes near the college buildings have nearly all been taken.

Mr. Eastman, a full blooded Sioux Indian will deliver an interesting and unique discourse. In the line of music there will be Mr. William H. per, basso, of New York, in a solo recital, who will be recalled as a man who captured Granville audiences at the time of the Spring Festival; and lastly the Cleveland Philharmonic String Quartet, one of the strongest combinations that has ever visited Granville. Solicitors will once canvass the town and vicinity for subscriptions, so that before October 1 it may be definitely known by the committee whether or not, it will be necessary to cancel any of the contracts. The conservatory combines with the college and town offering this course, so that it is to everybody to put their shoulders the wheel and make it a success.

Mr. Robert Kidd of Chicago, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Joseph Kidd of Newark, visited Greenville last Tuesday.

Misses Mary and Helen Monro who have been visiting in Westmoreland, Pennsylvania for the past two months, have returned home.

Rev. H. Otis Green of Cumberland Ohio, a graduate of Denison university, was the guest of his colleague, Mr. Castle and family Thursday and Friday, at the Castle home west of the village.
